Messra Sanda: Gent.—In the cholera summer of the year 1852, 2 disease first made its appearance on the end of my tongue, which continued to spread gradually for three years, during which time I was usder the transpect of different physicians without receiving any essentian benefit. I was salivated until the first dropped from my gums. My tongue was scarified, irequently cauterized, slit lengthwise, and cut crosswise, until I was told that the only cure would be to cut my tongue off to the root; but as it seemed uncertain whether this would put a stop to the raveges of such a disease. I preferred to risk my life rather than submit to the operation.

A scrotulous affection now commenced on my right cheek.

The disease then seized upon the root of them with, just noder the opening from the uses, and soon destroying toe home, continued its progress upward and backward into the hoses of the nose, which it destroyed, together with the cartilages. A gathering thentook place in my head, which discharged a thick fetta matter from the uses, which resembled soft hones or shells, as it came out in strings as large round as a goose quill. Pieces of home also dropped from my head into the mouth through the passage made by the disease in the none; law. The complaint now spread over o, and my sight so much impaired as to render it imposs ble for me to distinguish an ebject at the distance of two feet. My memory also was so much affected that I could not retain any thing I heard said for five minutes; and my condition, if not wholly, was nearly that of idiocy. disease occasionally appeared to be better, and then liooked toward death as the termination of my sufferings. At this pe-ried on. riod my means were exhausted in try sg various medicines, and dying, as I was, by inches, it can be readily supposed with what feelings I looked toward relief. It is now just six weeks since I crossed the threshold of your door, and was then an object from which the eye turned with pity and the senses with disgust. I was then a man who was broken down with suffering and disease, whose cup of mis-ery was more than full. I looked upon the world as dead to me; the past and intere were both alike; but while memory proves true to her trust, and reason sits enthroaed, so long will. New. York, August 23, 1842. NEW.YORK, August 23, 1842.

Gentlemen.—A tale of misery and woe's mine to tell, and as memory ever constant in the task brings back scenes that have past, I shudder at the picture and almost wonder it it is so. For months stretched upon a hed of suffering and distress, racked by the most excruciating pain, dumn with agony—the only voice that came from my lips the voice of grouning, and my only hope despair. Siten and often while others slept in the still hours of night, I have turned my face to the wall and wished to die. Although I stood on the brink of eternity and the thread of life was nearly severed, yet I still breathed on, the lamp held out to burn; I little thought it would be ever trimmed again, and only hoped that death would swallow up the flame. My sickness was first broughton by my imprudently name. My sickness was first broughton by my impracemaly exposing my selfto a strong current of air while over-heated, which caused a suiden check of perspiration. My complaint at first seemed light and hardly worth while to call a physician; but I soon began to grow worse, and a physician was called, who prescribed some pills containing a powerful preparation of mercury, to be followed by sarsapapowerful preparation of mercury, to be followed by sarsaparilla root and lignum vite made into a tea, which I continued using for several months without internalission. Soos after taking the mercury I began to feel its poisonous influence. My whole glandular system become affected, also the bones joints and muscles; tumps formed upon the skin nearly as big as an egg accompaned with intense burning heat, which kepts welling until they broke, and discharged matter and blood. These continued to increase until they covered my whole body. But this was only the beginning of my afflictions; now commenced those torturing pains termed chronic rhenrication. Attimes it seemed as if I was stretched upon a rack and all my limbs were being tim from each other; at others as if sharp knives were piercing stretched upon a rate and an interest stretched upon a rate and the rate of th not slept a night since the early part of December fast: the not slept a night since the early part of December hist; the only steep I obtained was a few hours during the middle of the day pillowed up in a chair, and the eruption had also fearfully increased. My face was completely covered with an extending sore. Thad now shrunk to a mere skeleton—the skin and flesh were, so diseased around my thighs that the bones nearly protruded, and the physicians pronounced my case beyond the reach of mediciae. Oh how I wished that I might die. From my long and protracted illness we that I might die From my long and protracted illness we had become much reduced in circumstances. A short time since while looking in the papers, I chanced to see your Sarsaparilla advertised, accompanied with a certificate from Mr. Burdock, of a most extraordinary cure made by its use. The case in some respects resembled my own, and I found that impering hope still clung to life. It seemed like a whisper from heaven. The second day after I commenced taking it I felt the pain much easier and went to sleep. I had not slept like this before for months. By the time I had used one bottle, the pain had nearly left, the eruption was also much better. I now left a sarange hope gathering my breast that I should live! perhaps becured. No; this was also much better. If the terral so are super any many breast that I should live! perhaps be cured. No; this could not be. I dared not believe it. I sent and got another bottle, continuing to improve rapidly, and still another, and I—I a few days since a miserable, suffering, dying man, was almost well. Two weeks from the day I took the first dose I was out, and walked nearly three miles without even the I was out, and white the analysis ance of a cane. And now, gentlemen—yes, now, I am well! and have restified before my God upon His sacred Word, that all might believe this statement for it is true how lamely these cold words describe those feartrue. Oh how lamely these cold words describe those fear-fut nights of agony, those dreadful days of suffering. True! Yes, gentlemen, I herald it to the world that all may know what your preparation of Sarsaparilla has done for me.
